

Houston in pole position for summer

Three-man team score a whopping 58 points to top the league table after the first three rounds this season.

They may have been a man down this time but Houston We Have a Problem had no trouble coasting to the top of the points table in Round 3 of The Knowledge – our series of quiz nights held at The Gramercy in DIFC and conducted by quizmaster Nikhil Soneja. Houston now lead the league table with 156.5 points, a comfortable lead over nearest rivals and defending champions Four Squares, who are on 151 points now.

The Knowledge breaks for summer, but we'll be back in September with Round 4. Watch this space for more details.

And we have one more to give away

Eben Botha is 27 and is the sales manager of a Dubai-based company.

Eben wears an Ascots & Chapels Performance Suit* and a bespoke dress shirt

THE SUIT UPGRADE

Eben Botha wanted to leave the block colours behind and opt for a subtle check suit. Ascots & Chapels was happy to oblige...

"Eben was open to design suggestions. With broad shoulders and a tall, slim frame it was a two-button with notch lapel all the way for him. The slim cut and classic design also suits his work environment and lifestyle."

MAHIR ALI, ARTISTIC AND OPERATIONS DIRECTOR, ASCOTS & CHAPELS

"For Eben we chose a mid-grey suit with a check effect as he already owns a block colour suit and was looking for a change. The grey colour was great for his skin tone and the subtle check in the fabric works well with his body shape. We went for a coloured lining with a subtle pattern that's chic and understated but shows it is a bespoke suit."
